AMERICA HAS A PROBLEM

Introduction

America, it's time we have an honest conversation. For too long, you've worn a white dress of liberty and justice, claiming ideals of freedom and equality, yet the fabric is stained with the blood of the oppressed—blood that has never been washed clean. James Baldwin, in his profound love for you, saw through the veil and demanded better. He insisted on his right to criticize you because he loved you deeply, because he knew that real love requires truth and reconciliation.

Our nation is at a crossroads. The facade of unity and democracy has crumbled, revealing the stark reality of systemic failures: a legislative branch in stalemate, a judicial branch weaponized to dismantle democracy, and a capitalist economy driven by unchecked greed. This strategy is our blueprint to rebuild and renew our commitment to a just and equitable society.

This strategy acknowledges the deep-rooted failures and aims to decentralize power, placing it back into the hands of the people. We envision a shareholder-style economy where citizens are beneficiaries of the nation's prosperity. Healthcare will be redefined, integrating preventative and curative models that merge science, technology, and holistic community-centered solutions. Our approach to justice will be restorative, mobilizing community-based systems (CBSs) with the resources and funds necessary for healing after decades of systemic oppression.

Democracy, as it stands, is a mockery without a unified vision for the future. The weaponization of media and propaganda has fractured our shared reality, making it difficult to achieve consensus or progress. This strategy seeks to restore faith in our democratic institutions by ensuring transparency, accountability, and genuine representation.

We face unprecedented challenges: misogyny, genocide, structural racism, imperialism, economic disparity, and environmental degradation. Yet, within these challenges lies the opportunity to redefine our nation. Our goals are ambitious, but they are necessary to improve the lifespan and quality of life for all who respect their life and the lives of others. We believe in the right of every individual to pursue purpose and happiness, regardless of race, sex, creed, religion, or sexual orientation. No one has the right to oppress, harm, or prevent anyone from this pursuit.

America, you are burning. The flames of racism, greed, and arrogance consume you. COVID-19 ravages Black communities, police violence targets Black bodies, and Black Trans women are murdered at alarming rates. These fires rage, and we are left to navigate the destruction. But this is not where our story ends.

In this moment of national collapse, we have an opportunity. We can reckon with our truths, heal our divides, and unify to build something new. The idea of America, at its core, is indeed a splendid beauty. But to realize this beauty, we must confront our past and embrace a collective future. Black, White, Native-born, Immigrant, Cis, Trans, Gay, Straight, Rich, Poor—our destinies are intertwined.

Our vision for America is one that deconstructs Western principles, evaluating their efficiency with data and critical thinking, and implementing new values based on evidence and practicality, rather than the “we’ve always done it this way” ideology. We draw inspiration from successful systems around the world, adapting best practices to fit our unique context.

Health and Wellness

- Black Maternal and Infant Health: Addressing the crisis through comprehensive care, community support, and policy reform.
- HIV Prevention: Strategizing to achieve zero new infections through education, accessibility, and medical advancements.

AMERICA HAS A PROBLEM

- Disease Prevention: Developing robust systems to prevent the spread and emergence of new diseases.
- Food System Restructure: Promoting community gardens, urban crop development, and sustainable agricultural practices.
- Holistic Healthcare: Integrating science, technology, and holistic approaches to foster optimal health.

Economic Justice

- Shareholder Economy: Establishing a system where citizens receive dividends from local and national enterprises.
- Supporting Creativity: Combating the stifling effects of capitalism on the creative spirit by providing structures for innovation and creativity.
- Income Equality: Implementing policies that ensure fair wages and reduce economic disparities.

Restorative Justice

- Community-Based Systems: Mobilizing trusted CBSs with resources and funding to facilitate community healing.
- Judicial Reform: Transforming the judicial system to focus on rehabilitation and restorative practices.
- Corporate Reparations: Billionaires and Billion Dollar corps to reconstruct devastation of capitalist greed through intentional distribution directly to community.

Education and Innovation

- Equitable Education: Ensuring access to quality education for all, with a focus on critical thinking, creativity, and innovation.
- Technology and Innovation: Investing in cutting-edge research and development to maintain global competitiveness and improve quality of life.

Human Rights and Democracy

- Protecting Rights: Upholding the rights of all individuals, regardless of identity, and ensuring protection from discrimination and violence.
- Transparent Governance: Establishing systems of accountability and transparency within all branches of government.

Environmental Stewardship

- Sustainable Practices: Promoting policies that protect the environment and promote sustainability.
- Climate Action: Taking decisive steps to combat climate change and its effects on communities.

America, you are burning, but from these ashes, we can rise. We can build a nation that truly reflects the ideals we claim to hold dear. It is time for unity, strategy, and collective action. Let us extinguish the flames of division and injustice, and together, create a future where liberty and justice truly are for all.

In love and solidarity,
The Strategists of the New America

SECTION I | ACKNOWLEDGING PAST FAILURES

America, for all its lofty ideals and promises of freedom and justice, has a history marred by profound injustices and systemic failures. To move forward and create a more equitable society, we must first confront and acknowledge these past wrongs.

Slavery and the Legacy of Racism

The foundation of the United States was built on the backs of enslaved Africans. For over 400 years, Black men, women, and children were treated as property, subjected to unimaginable brutality and dehumanization. The abolition of slavery in 1865 did not end the oppression of Black Americans. The subsequent era of Jim Crow laws enforced racial segregation and disenfranchisement, embedding systemic racism deeply into the fabric of our nation. This legacy of racism persists today, manifesting in discriminatory practices across all sectors of society, from policing and the criminal justice system to education, employment, and housing.

Genocide and Oppression of Indigenous Peoples

The history of the United States is also a history of the systematic genocide and displacement of Indigenous peoples. European settlers, and later the U.S. government, engaged in a relentless campaign to seize land, resources, and sovereignty from Native American tribes. This included forced removals, broken treaties, and massacres. The cultural and spiritual heritage of Indigenous peoples was systematically eroded, and their communities continue to face severe socio-economic challenges and injustices.

Support for Global Genocides and Imperialism

America's foreign policy has often prioritized economic and geopolitical interests over human rights and justice. This has led to the support of regimes and actions that have committed genocides and severe human rights violations. From supporting authoritarian regimes during the Cold War to backing Israel's policies in the Palestinian territories, the U.S. has often turned a blind eye to atrocities when it suited its strategic interests. This complicity has not only stained America's moral standing but has also contributed to ongoing conflicts and suffering around the world.

Economic Inequality and Capitalist Exploitation

In recent decades, America has increasingly become a Wall Street commodity, bought and sold by the wealthiest and greediest among us. The influence of money in politics has skewed policy-making to favor the interests of the rich and powerful over the common good. Economic inequality has reached alarming levels, with the top 1% holding more wealth than the bottom 90% combined. This disparity undermines the principles of democracy and fairness, as the voices and needs of ordinary citizens are drowned out by the interests of the elite.

The Erosion of Democratic Institutions

The failures of America's legislative and judicial branches to protect democracy and uphold justice are evident. Legislative gridlock and fiscal irresponsibility threaten government stability, while the Supreme Court's decisions, such as the overturning of Roe v. Wade and granting immunity to presidents, reflect a judiciary that often serves political interests over public good. These failures have eroded public trust and exposed the vulnerabilities of our democratic institutions.

SECTION II | DECONSTRUCTING GOVERNANCE AND DEMANDING ACCOUNTABILITY

Legislative Stalemate and Fiscal Irresponsibility

For far too long, the American legislative branch has demonstrated a disturbing inability to reconcile finances during fiscal sessions, perpetually risking government shutdowns and undermining the stability of our nation. This chronic gridlock is not merely an inconvenience; it is a direct assault on the public trust in our government's ability to perform its most fundamental duties. Budgetary standoffs have repeatedly brought us to the brink, threatening essential services and casting uncertainty over the lives of millions of Americans who depend on them. Enough is enough.

Reversal of Roe v. Wade

In a regressive and alarming move, the Supreme Court recently overturned Roe v. Wade, dismantling nearly half a century of progress in women's reproductive rights. This decision is a stark reminder that hard-won freedoms can be snatched away in an instant, undermining the bodily autonomy and health of millions of women across the country. The reversal represents a significant step backward, threatening the progress we have made toward gender equality and highlighting the vulnerability of rights many considered secure. This is unacceptable.

Judicial Overreach and Presidential Immunity

The Supreme Court's recent decision to legally grant immunity to a president or presidential candidate marks another dangerous precedent. This ruling effectively places the highest office in the land above the law, contradicting the foundational principle that no one is above the law in a true democracy. This judicial overreach not only emboldens potential abuses of power but also signals a profound crisis in our democratic institutions. We demand immediate action.

Enough is Enough: A Call for Deconstruction and Rebuilding

The failures and actions of the legislative and judicial branches underscore a dire need not just for reform, but for a complete deconstruction and rebuilding of our governance structures. The continuous legislative stalemates over fiscal responsibility, the regressive overturning of Roe v. Wade, and the dangerous precedent of presidential immunity illustrate a government disconnected from the needs and rights of its citizens. We cannot allow these failures to define our nation. This is a demand for justice, equity, and meaningful change.

Plan A: The New Strategy for America seeks to deconstruct and rebuild our governance structures to ensure accountability, transparency, and responsiveness to the will of the people. Our strategy includes the following key initiatives:

1. Balanced Budget Amendment: Demand the introduction of a balanced budget amendment to prevent perpetual fiscal standoffs and ensure that government operations are not jeopardized by political brinkmanship.
2. Reproductive Rights Protection: Demand federal legislation that safeguards reproductive rights, ensuring that the regressive overturning of Roe v. Wade is corrected and that women's health and autonomy are protected nationwide.
3. Judicial Accountability: Demand unbiased investigations into the Supreme Court and implement reforms to increase the accountability of the judiciary. This includes the introduction of term limits for

Supreme Court justices and enhanced oversight mechanisms to ensure that judicial decisions reflect the principles of justice and equality.

4. Presidential Accountability: Demand the enactment of clear and enforceable laws to ensure that no president or presidential candidate is above the law. This includes revisiting and reversing the recent decision that grants immunity and reinforcing the principles of accountability and transparency in the executive branch.
5. Civic Engagement and Education: Demand the fostering of a culture of civic engagement and education to ensure that all citizens are informed about their rights and responsibilities. This includes comprehensive civic education programs and initiatives to increase voter participation and public involvement in governance.
6. Transparent Government Operations: Demand the promotion of transparency in all branches of government through stringent disclosure requirements, robust whistleblower protections, and the use of technology to make government operations more accessible and understandable to the public

The Path Forward

America, we are at a critical juncture. The failures of our legislative and judicial branches are stark reminders that our democracy requires constant vigilance and active participation. Our strategy calls for a profound recommitment to the principles of accountability, transparency, and justice. By addressing these systemic issues head-on, we can begin to heal the fractures within our democracy and build a government that truly serves all its people.

Accountability and Oversight: We must establish robust mechanisms for holding our elected officials and institutions accountable. This includes independent oversight bodies with the power to investigate and sanction unethical behavior, as well as public reporting systems that ensure transparency in government operations.

Community and Citizen Empowerment: Strengthen the role of communities in the decision-making process. We demand the creation of citizen assemblies and participatory budgeting initiatives to give people a direct voice in how their tax dollars are spent and what policies are prioritized.

Judicial Reform: We must reform the judicial appointment process to reduce partisanship and increase diversity on the bench. This includes setting term limits for Supreme Court justices and lower court judges to prevent lifetime appointments that can lead to entrenched biases and unaccountability.

Electoral Integrity: Protect the integrity of our elections by implementing comprehensive electoral reforms. This includes automatic voter registration, ensuring equal access to voting for all citizens, and stringent measures against gerrymandering and voter suppression tactics.

Economic Justice: Address the deep economic inequalities that have been exacerbated by the failures of our governance structures. This includes advocating for progressive taxation, increasing the minimum wage, and expanding social safety nets to ensure that all Americans have the opportunity to thrive.

Environmental Sustainability: Integrate environmental justice into all aspects of governance. We demand policies that address climate change, protect natural resources, and ensure that marginalized communities are not disproportionately affected by environmental degradation.

Healthcare for All: Establish a universal healthcare system that prioritizes preventative and curative health care. This system must be built on the collaboration of science, medicine, technology, and community-centered holistic solutions to ensure optimal health for all citizens.

The time for passive acceptance of injustice is over. We demand a comprehensive and unflinching examination of our governance structures and an unwavering commitment to deconstructing and rebuilding them. This strategy is not merely about reform; it is about creating a new foundation upon which true justice and equity can be built.

Let us unite in our demands for a government that reflects the values of its people, a government that is transparent, accountable, and just. Together, we can build a nation where democracy truly works for everyone, where every citizen's voice is heard, and where justice is not just an ideal, but a lived reality.

SECTION III | RE-IMAGINING THE AMERICAN ECONOMY AND FINANCIAL SYSTEMS

The American economy, once the envy of the world is now riddled with systemic flaws that perpetuate inequality and stifle innovation. Despite centuries of free slave labor as a head start, America is a county of debt, this nations owes large sums that it can not pay, and it continues to pass that debt on to the citizenry. The global value of the dollar is crumbling, and our reliance on outdated financial systems like the credit system shackles citizens rather than empowering them. To move forward, we must reimagine our economy and financial systems in ways that promote justice, sustainability, and innovation. This section outlines SMART goals designed to achieve these outcomes.

A New Vision for Currency and Economic Justice

1. Diversify the Financial System:

- Specific: Integrate cryptocurrencies alongside the traditional dollar to create a more resilient and inclusive financial system.
- Measurable: By 2026, ensure that at least 25% of financial transactions are conducted using cryptocurrencies or other decentralized financial technologies.
- Achievable: Partner with fintech companies and regulatory bodies to develop secure and user-friendly platforms for cryptocurrency transactions.

- Relevant: Diversifying currency options will protect the economy from the volatility of a single currency and foster financial inclusion.
- Time-bound: Launch pilot programs in 10 major cities by 2025, with a nationwide rollout by 2030.

1. Dismantle the Credit System:

- Specific: Replace the current credit scoring system with a more equitable and comprehensive financial assessment model.
- Measurable: Develop and implement a new financial assessment model that considers a wider range of financial behaviors and circumstances by 2027.
- Achievable: Form a task force comprising economists, sociologists, and technology experts to design the new system.
- Relevant: The current credit system disproportionately affects marginalized communities and perpetuates economic inequality.
- Time-bound: Phase out the existing credit system over a 10-year period, beginning with pilot programs in 2025.

1. Reimagine Commodities Management:

- Specific: Establish public trusts for the management and equitable distribution of natural resources such as water, solar power, and wind power.
- Measurable: Create these trusts in all 50 states by 2028, ensuring that 100% of residents have equitable access to these resources.
- Achievable: Partner with environmental organizations and local governments to develop and manage these trusts.
- Relevant: Natural resources should be managed for the benefit of all, not hoarded or exploited for profit.
- Time-bound: Begin pilot programs in five states by 2025, with full implementation by 2030.

Promoting Innovation and Intellectual Property

1. Foster Innovation Ecosystems:

- Specific: Create innovation hubs in underrepresented communities to nurture local talent and intellectual property.
- Measurable: Establish 50 innovation hubs by 2030, with a focus on historically marginalized communities.
- Achievable: Secure funding through public-private partnerships and grants, and provide mentorship programs led by industry experts.
- Relevant: Innovation is a key driver of economic growth and must be accessible to all, not just a privileged few.
- Time-bound: Launch the first 10 hubs by 2026, with an additional 40 by 2030.

1. Protect Intellectual Property:

- Specific: Develop and enforce laws that protect the intellectual property of creators while preventing exploitation.
- Measurable: Increase the number of intellectual property protections granted to marginalized creators by 50% by 2030.
- Achievable: Strengthen intellectual property laws and provide free legal assistance to creators from underrepresented backgrounds.
- Relevant: Ensuring that all creators can benefit from their innovations is essential for a just and vibrant economy.
- Time-bound: Implement these changes by 2025, with ongoing evaluations and adjustments.

Sustainable Economic Practices

1. Promote Circular Economy Principles:

- Specific: Encourage businesses to adopt circular economy principles to reduce waste and enhance sustainability.
- Measurable: Achieve a 50% reduction in industrial waste and a 30% increase in the use of recycled materials by 2030.
- Achievable: Provide incentives and support for businesses to transition to circular economy practices.
- Relevant: Sustainability is critical for the long-term health of the economy and the planet.
- Time-bound: Launch incentive programs by 2024, with measurable progress by 2030.

1. Support Local Agriculture and Food Systems:

- Specific: Restructure the food system to support local agriculture, urban inclusion of crop development, and community gardens.
- Measurable: Increase the number of community gardens and urban farms by 200% by 2030.
- Achievable: Provide grants and technical assistance to communities and local governments to establish and maintain these projects.
- Relevant: Local food systems enhance food security, promote health, and support local economies.
- Time-bound: Start with pilot projects in 10 cities by 2025, expanding nationwide by 2030.

Conclusion

The current economic and financial systems are failing the American people. By deconstructing these outdated models and rebuilding them with justice, sustainability, and innovation at their core, we can create a more equitable and prosperous future. This section provides a roadmap for transforming our economy, ensuring that it serves all citizens and not just the privileged few. Let us embrace these SMART goals and work collectively to build a new economic foundation for America.

SECTION IV | HOLISTIC HEALTH AND COMMUNITY EMPOWERMENT

The health and well-being of our communities have been systematically undermined through years of neglect and violence. To heal and thrive, we must take a comprehensive and restorative approach to health, addressing both physical and mental well-being. This involves intentional investment in community-based organizations (CBOs) like BEAM (Black Emotional And Mental Health) and other proven providers of healing tools and spaces. By organizing these entities into task forces and coalitions, we can ensure collective input on shared outcomes and channel funds into these proven resources. Additionally, we must reverse the miseducation perpetuated through media and promote a more unified and loving humanity. This section outlines SMART goals designed to achieve these outcomes.

Investing in Community-Based Organizations and Mental Health

1. Amplify and Invest in CBOs:

- Specific: Increase funding for organizations like BEAM and other CBOs dedicated to emotional and mental health by 200%.
- Measurable: Allocate $500 million annually to CBOs focused on mental health and community healing by 2026.
- Achievable: Partner with federal, state, and local governments, as well as private donors and philanthropic organizations.

- Relevant: CBOs are essential for providing culturally competent and community-specific mental health support.
- Time-bound: Begin funding increases in 2024, with full funding levels achieved by 2026.

1. Organize Task Forces and Coalitions:

- Specific: Create regional coalitions of CBOs with shared missions to enhance collaboration and resource sharing.
- Measurable: Establish 10 regional coalitions by 2025, with each coalition supporting at least 50 local organizations.
- Achievable: Provide administrative and logistical support to facilitate coalition building and ensure effective collaboration.
- Relevant: Task forces and coalitions amplify the impact of individual organizations by fostering collaboration and collective action.
- Time-bound: Launch initial coalitions by 2024, with nationwide coverage by 2025.

1. Fund Proven Resources in Areas of Specialty and Need:

- Specific: Direct funding to organizations with a proven track record of success in addressing specific community needs.
- Measurable: Distribute $1 billion annually to targeted CBOs addressing areas such as trauma recovery, addiction treatment, and youth mentoring.
- Achievable: Use data-driven assessments to identify and fund the most effective organizations.
- Relevant: Targeted funding ensures that resources are used efficiently and effectively to address critical needs.
- Time-bound: Begin targeted funding in 2024, with annual assessments to adjust and optimize allocations.

Reversing Miseducation and Promoting Unified Humanity

1. Combat Historical Disinformation through Media Campaigns:

- Specific: Launch national media campaigns to educate the public about historical truths and promote a unified vision for the future.
- Measurable: Reach 100 million Americans through diverse media channels by 2027.
- Achievable: Partner with media organizations, educators, and historians to develop and disseminate accurate and engaging content.
- Relevant: Correcting historical disinformation is crucial for fostering a more informed and united society.
- Time-bound: Begin media campaigns in 2024, with ongoing efforts and regular updates.

1. Promote a Unified and Loving Humanity:

- Specific: Develop educational programs and public service announcements (PSAs) that promote empathy, understanding, and unity.
- Measurable: Implement these programs in all public schools and broadcast PSAs on major networks by 2025.
- Achievable: Collaborate with educational institutions, community leaders, and media outlets.
- Relevant: Promoting empathy and unity is essential for healing divisions and building a more just society.
- Time-bound: Launch educational programs and PSAs by 2024, with full implementation by 2025.

1. Corporate and Individual Contributions:

- Specific: Require corporations and individuals who have accumulated over a billion in wealth to contribute to these healing and educational efforts.
- Measurable: Secure $10 billion in contributions annually from these entities by 2026.

- Achievable: Implement progressive taxation and incentivize voluntary contributions through tax benefits.
- Relevant: Wealth accumulated through the previous system must be redirected to address the harm it has caused.
- Time-bound: Begin collecting contributions in 2024, with full compliance by 2026.

Holistic health and community empowerment are foundational to building a just and equitable society. By investing in community-based organizations, reversing mis-education, and promoting a unified and loving humanity, we can heal the wounds of systemic violence and neglect. These SMART goals provide a road map for achieving these outcomes, ensuring that all citizens have the support and resources they need to thrive. Let us commit to this vision and work together to build a healthier, more compassionate America.

SECTION V | TRANSFORMING HEALTH AND WELLNESS INFRASTRUCTURE

The American healthcare system is riddled with inequalities, inefficiencies, and exorbitant costs that place an undue burden on the most vulnerable populations. To ensure true justice and equity, we must undertake a comprehensive transformation of our healthcare system. This section outlines the SMART goals for a healthcare revolution that includes respect and support for alternative care methods, robust mental health resources, and holistic healing infrastructures like the DDHC.

SMART Goals for Healthcare Transformation

1. Respect and Support for Alternative Care:

- Specific: Decriminalize home births and alternative care practices, and provide support for doulas and midwives.
- Measurable: Achieve nationwide decriminalization and certification support for doulas and midwives by 2025.
- Achievable: Work with state legislatures, healthcare organizations, and advocacy groups.
- Relevant: Respecting and supporting alternative care methods addresses diverse healthcare needs and promotes holistic well-being.
- Time-bound: Implement legislative changes and support programs starting in 2023, with full realization by 2025.

1. Investment in Mental Health Resources:

- Specific: Increase funding for mental health services and expand access to mental health care in underserved communities.
- Measurable: Double the federal funding for mental health services and establish mental health clinics in 70% of underserved communities by 2026.
- Achievable: Allocate federal and state budgets, and partner with local health organizations and nonprofits.
- Relevant: Mental health is a critical component of overall well-being and must be prioritized.
- Time-bound: Begin funding increases and clinic establishment in 2023, with major milestones achieved by 2026.

1. Holistic Healing Infrastructures:

- Specific: Develop community-based healing centers modeled after the DDHC, focusing on holistic health and wellness.
- Measurable: Establish 10 pilot healing centers across the country by 2028.
- Achievable: Secure funding through public-private partnerships and community investments.
- Relevant: Holistic health centers provide comprehensive care that addresses physical, mental, and social well-being.
- Time-bound: Start development in 2023, with the first pilot centers opening by 2025 and full implementation by 2028.

Implementing a Holistic Healthcare System

1. Support for Doulas and Midwives:

- Specific: Implement certification programs and provide financial incentives for doulas and midwives.
- Measurable: Certify and financially support 10,000 doulas and midwives by 2025.
- Achievable: Partner with educational institutions and healthcare providers.
- Relevant: Alternative birth practices offer safe, personalized care that can reduce maternal and infant mortality rates.
- Time-bound: Begin certification and support programs in 2023, with full implementation by 2025.

1. Expanding Mental Health Services:

- Specific: Establish comprehensive mental health programs in schools, workplaces, and communities.
- Measurable: Implement mental health programs in 80% of schools and workplaces by 2027.
- Achievable: Work with educational and corporate sectors to integrate mental health services.
- Relevant: Addressing mental health proactively can reduce stigma and improve overall societal well-being.
- Time-bound: Start program development in 2023, with broad implementation by 2027.

1. Developing Healing Centers:

- Specific: Create community healing centers that offer a range of services, from traditional medical care to alternative therapies.
- Measurable: Establish 10 centers serving diverse communities by 2028.
- Achievable: Utilize the DDHC model to guide development and ensure community involvement.
- Relevant: Healing centers provide integrated care that meets diverse needs and fosters community health.

- Time-bound: Start planning in 2024, with the first centers opening by 2025 and full implementation by 2028.

Case Study: DDHC's Holistic Health Approach

The Dallas Collaborative Co-op Campus (DDHC) exemplifies how holistic health and wellbeing can be achieved through community-driven initiatives. Key components of DDHC's health and wellness strategy include:

1. Healing Museum and Wellness Center:

- Features: Offers a range of services, including yoga, sound meditation, co-op grocery market, and holistic wellness vendors.
- Impact: Promotes cultural awareness, mental and physical health, and community connection.
- Revenue Model: Generates income through wellness services, co-op market sales, and vendor rentals.

1. Farm to Table Program:

- Objective: Develop agricultural knowledge and community garden spaces to create a sustainable food system.
- Impact: Provides access to fresh, healthy foods and educates the community on sustainable practices.

1. Freedom School:

- Objective: Provide educational opportunities focused on social justice, community empowerment, and holistic health.
- Impact: Empowers individuals with knowledge and skills to improve their health and wellbeing.

Reversing Miseducation and Promoting Healing

1. Media and Message Campaigns:

- Specific: Launch nationwide campaigns to combat historical disinformation and promote unity and humanity.
- Measurable: Reach 90% of the population with accurate historical information and positive messages by 2026.
- Achievable: Partner with media organizations, educational institutions, and community groups.
- Relevant: Correcting misinformation and promoting positive narratives fosters a more inclusive and informed society.
- Time-bound: Begin campaigns in 2024, with widespread reach by 2026.

1. Investment in Proven Healing Organizations:

- Specific: Amplify and invest in organizations like BEAM (Black Emotional And Mental Health) and other local proven providers.
- Measurable: Increase funding for these organizations by 200% by 2025.
- Achievable: Allocate federal and state funds, and encourage private contributions.
- Relevant: Supporting effective organizations ensures that resources are used efficiently to heal impacted communities.
- Time-bound: Start investments in 2024, with significant increases by 2025.

Conclusion

The transformation of the healthcare system is essential for achieving justice and equity in America. By respecting alternative care practices, investing in mental health resources, developing holistic healing infrastructures, and reversing miseducation, we can create a healthcare system that truly serves all people. The DDHC model provides a blueprint for how this transformation can be realized, demonstrating the power of community-driven, holistic approaches to health and wellbeing. Through these efforts, we aim to build a society where everyone has access to the care and support they need to thrive.

SECTION VI | REVOLUTIONIZING EDUCATION AND INNOVATION

The future of America lies in its ability to educate and innovate. Current educational systems, plagued by inequities and outdated methodologies, fail to prepare students for the complexities of a rapidly evolving world. To foster a society that values creativity, critical thinking, and innovation, we must revolutionize our education systems and create environments that nurture these qualities. This section outlines the SMART goals that will guide our efforts in transforming education and innovation, inspired by pioneering models like the principles of icre8te Academy.

Deconstructing Traditional Education Models

1. Implementing Project-Based Learning:

- Specific: Introduce project-based learning (PBL) methodologies in public schools across the nation.
- Measurable: Integrate PBL in 1,000 schools by 2026.
- Achievable: Partner with educational experts, local governments, and community organizations to develop and implement PBL curricula.
- Relevant: PBL encourages critical thinking, creativity, and practical problem-solving skills.
- Time-bound: Begin pilot programs in 2025, with full integration in 1,000 schools by 2029.

1. Emphasizing STEAM (Science, Technology, Engineering, Arts, Mathematics):

- Specific: Expand STEAM programs to provide a more holistic and interdisciplinary education.
- Measurable: Implement comprehensive STEAM programs in 500 schools by 2025.
- Achievable: Secure funding from government grants, private sector partnerships, and philanthropic contributions.
- Relevant: STEAM education fosters innovation, creativity, and prepares students for future careers.
- Time-bound: Launch STEAM initiatives in selected schools by 2025, with broader adoption by 2025.

Encouraging Innovation and Creativity

1. Establishing Innovation Hubs in Schools:

- Specific: Create innovation hubs within schools that provide resources and spaces for students to experiment and create.
- Measurable: Set up 200 innovation hubs by 2026.
- Achievable: Collaborate with tech companies, universities, and community organizations to provide equipment and expertise.
- Relevant: Innovation hubs will inspire creativity and provide hands-on learning experiences.
- Time-bound: Start establishing hubs in 2024, with completion of 200 hubs by 2026.

1. Incorporating Entrepreneurial Education:

- Specific: Integrate entrepreneurial education into school curricula to encourage business and innovation skills.
- Measurable: Develop entrepreneurial programs in 500 schools by 2026.

- Achievable: Work with business leaders, educators, and policymakers to design and implement programs.
- Relevant: Entrepreneurial education equips students with skills to navigate and contribute to the economy.
- Time-bound: Begin program development in 2024 with implementation in 500 schools by 2026.

Enhancing Accessibility and Equity in Education

1. Increasing Access to Quality Education:

- Specific: Ensure that all children, regardless of socio-economic background, have access to quality education.
- Measurable: Reduce educational disparities in 300 underserved communities by 2026.
- Achievable: Provide targeted funding, resources, and support to schools in underserved areas.
- Relevant: Equitable access to education is fundamental for a just society.
- Time-bound: Identify and support targeted communities starting in 2023, with significant progress by 2026.

1. Addressing Systemic Inequities:

- Specific: Implement policies and practices that address systemic inequities in education.
- Measurable: Develop and enforce anti-discrimination policies in 1,000 schools by 2026.
- Achievable: Partner with civil rights organizations, educators, and policymakers to create and monitor policies.
- Relevant: Ensuring equity in education will help close the achievement gap and foster inclusivity.
- Time-bound: Develop policies in 2024, with implementation and monitoring in 1,000 schools by 2026.

Case Study Model: Principles of Icre8te Academy

1. Adopting Innovative Educational Models:

- Specific: Encourage schools to adopt innovative educational models that focus on creativity, collaboration, and real-world applications.
- Measurable: Implement such models in 300 schools by 2027.
- Achievable: Learn from successful examples like Icre8te Academy to develop adaptable frameworks.
- Relevant: Innovative models better prepare students for the future and foster a love of learning.
- Time-bound: Begin pilot programs in 2025, with full implementation in 300 schools by 2028.

Revolutionizing education and innovation in America is not just a reform—it's a complete deconstruction and rebuilding of our current systems. By implementing project-based learning, emphasizing STEAM, establishing innovation hubs, incorporating entrepreneurial education, enhancing accessibility and equity, and adopting innovative educational models, we can prepare our students for a dynamic and uncertain future. Inspired by pioneering models, these SMART goals provide a clear and actionable path forward. This strategy seeks to create a new educational paradigm that values creativity, critical thinking, and equitable access, ensuring a brighter future for all.

SECTION VII | REVOLUTIONIZING HOUSING AND COMMUNITY DEVELOPMENT

Housing is a fundamental human right, yet countless Americans live without stable, secure homes. The crisis of houselessness is a glaring symptom of systemic failures. This section outlines the SMART goals for revolutionizing housing and community development, leveraging innovative models like the Dallas Collaborative Co-op Campus (DDHC), also known as “The City on a Hill,” as a blueprint for creating sustainable, inclusive communities.

SMART Goals for Housing and Community Development

1. Eradicating Houselessness:

- Specific: Ensure every individual has access to stable, secure housing within five years.
- Measurable: Reduce houselessness by 50% within the first two years, aiming for complete eradication by 2029.
- Achievable: Utilize existing abandoned spaces and properties to create transitional housing and permanent residences.
- Relevant: Stable housing is crucial for individual well-being and societal health.
- Time-bound: Begin immediate assessment and repurposing of abandoned properties in 2023, with full implementation by 2029.

1. Decriminalizing Houselessness:

- Specific: Eliminate laws that criminalize houselessness and replace them with supportive services.
- Measurable: Repeal criminalization laws in all states by 2025.
- Achievable: Work with local and state governments to pass legislation and provide necessary resources.
- Relevant: Criminalizing houselessness exacerbates the issue and wastes public resources.
- Time-bound: Start legislative advocacy in 2023, with laws repealed by 2025.

1. Providing Comprehensive Support Services:

- Specific: Offer wraparound services to all houseless individuals, including mental health care, substance abuse treatment, and job training.
- Measurable: Ensure 100% access to support services for houseless individuals by 2027.
- Achievable: Partner with nonprofits, health care providers, and community organizations to deliver services.
- Relevant: Addressing the root causes of houselessness requires a holistic approach.
- Time-bound: Begin service provision in 2023, with full coverage by 2027.

DDHC: A Case Study in Community Empowerment

The Dallas Collaborative Co-op Campus (DDHC) exemplifies how community-focused housing models can create sustainable, inclusive environments. By addressing systemic inequities, particularly those impacting Black, Femme, Queer, Non-binary, and Trans individuals, DDHC aims to empower marginalized communities through sustainable housing, education, and holistic health improvements.

1. Implementing Innovative Housing Models:

- Specific: Establish community-focused housing developments in 100 communities by 2026.
- Measurable: Create 100 developments with a minimum of 10 units each, housing at least 1,000 families.
- Achievable: Provide start-up funding and support through public-private partnerships and community investment.
- Relevant: Community-focused models offer long-term affordability and empowerment.
- Time-bound: Launch pilot developments in 2025, with 100 established by 2028.

1. Promoting Community Ownership and Participation:

- Specific: Encourage community ownership of housing developments to foster stability and pride.
- Measurable: Transition 50% of new housing developments to community ownership models by 2028.
- Achievable: Work with developers, financiers, and local governments to create favorable conditions for community ownership.
- Relevant: Community ownership builds wealth and fosters a sense of responsibility among residents.
- Time-bound: Begin transitioning ownership models in 2023, with 50% of new developments under community ownership by 2028.

1. Investing in Housing for the Houseless:

- Specific: Allocate significant funding to build and maintain housing specifically for houseless individuals.
- Measurable: Construct 10,000 units of houseless-specific housing by 2027.
- Achievable: Secure funding through government budgets, private sector investments, and philanthropic contributions.

- Relevant: Dedicated housing for houseless individuals ensures stability and support.
- Time-bound: Begin construction in 2023, with 10,000 units completed by 2027.

Establishing a System That Prevents Houselessness

1. Creating a Safety Net:

- Specific: Establish a robust safety net to prevent houselessness, including emergency financial assistance and eviction prevention programs.
- Measurable: Reduce eviction rates by 75% by 2027.
- Achievable: Partner with local governments and nonprofits to provide resources and support.
- Relevant: Preventing houselessness is more effective and humane than addressing it after the fact.
- Time-bound: Launch safety net programs in 2023, with significant impact by 2027.

1. Reforming the Rental Market:

- Specific: Implement rent control and tenant protection laws to ensure affordable housing.
- Measurable: Enact rent control policies in 50 major cities by 2025.
- Achievable: Advocate for legislation and collaborate with housing justice organizations.
- Relevant: Fair rental practices are essential to preventing houselessness.
- Time-bound: Begin advocacy efforts in 2024, with policies enacted by 2026.

Case Study: The DDHC Model

The DDHC's mission is to build a community that addresses systemic inequities, focusing on marginalized groups. Key components include:

- The Heroes Initiatives: Investing in community leaders to develop projects that benefit the entire community.
- Land Acquisition and Development: Securing land to create sustainable housing and development projects.
- On-Campus Programs: Initiatives like Farm to Table, Black2Nature, and Freedom School that promote sustainability, connection with nature, and social justice education.
- Business Initiatives: Ventures like Citrine, Oh Kale Naw, and Creation Nation that generate income and support community development.
- Healing Museum and Wellness Center: Providing holistic wellness services and promoting cultural awareness.

By following the DDHC model, we can create communities that not only provide housing but also foster empowerment, health, and prosperity for all residents. The goal is to transform urban development, ensuring that solutions are inclusive and beneficial for all community members, regardless of their socioeconomic status.

SECTION VIII | ECONOMIC OVERHAUL AND FINANCIAL JUSTICE

The current economic system in the United States has long been skewed in favor of the wealthiest individuals and corporations, leading to stark inequalities and systemic exploitation. To rectify this, a comprehensive economic overhaul is necessary. This section outlines the SMART goals for creating a fair and just economic system, emphasizing the need to reimagine American currency, dismantle the credit system, and ensure that natural resources are managed equitably.

SMART Goals for Economic Overhaul

1. Reimagining American Currency:

- Specific: Diversify the American financial system to include a robust integration of cryptocurrencies alongside the traditional dollar.
- Measurable: Achieve a 30% adoption rate of cryptocurrencies in everyday transactions by 2027.
- Achievable: Implement supportive regulatory frameworks and public education campaigns.
- Relevant: Diversification ensures financial resilience and adaptation to modern economic realities.
- Time-bound: Begin regulatory adjustments and education initiatives in 2025, aiming for significant adoption by 2027.

1. Dismantling the Credit System:

- Specific: Replace the existing credit scoring system with a more equitable model based on individual circumstances and holistic financial health.
- Measurable: Eliminate traditional credit scores for 50% of financial institutions by 2025.
- Achievable: Develop and implement new assessment frameworks in partnership with financial experts and consumer advocacy groups.
- Relevant: The current credit system perpetuates inequality and limits economic mobility.
- Time-bound: Start development in 2023, with widespread adoption by 2025.

1. Equitable Management of Natural Resources:

- Specific: Establish public ownership and equitable management of natural resources like water, solar power, and wind power.
- Measurable: Transition 70% of these resources to public or cooperative management by 2030.
- Achievable: Create legal frameworks and cooperative models to facilitate the transition.
- Relevant: Natural resources are a common heritage and should benefit all people.
- Time-bound: Begin legal and structural transitions in 2023, aiming for 70% by 2030.

Implementing a New Financial Ecosystem

1. Cryptocurrency Integration:

- Specific: Develop infrastructure to support widespread cryptocurrency use, including government-backed digital wallets and merchant acceptance programs.

- Measurable: Ensure 50% of businesses accept cryptocurrency payments by 2026.
- Achievable: Partner with tech companies and financial institutions to create seamless integration.
- Relevant: Cryptocurrencies offer secure, decentralized financial transactions.
- Time-bound: Begin infrastructure development in 2025, aiming for broad acceptance by 2027.

1. Public Education on Financial Systems:

- Specific: Launch a nationwide financial literacy campaign to educate citizens on new economic models and financial tools.
- Measurable: Reach 80% of the population with educational resources by 2025.
- Achievable: Utilize digital platforms, community workshops, and public service announcements.
- Relevant: Informed citizens can make better financial decisions and support systemic change.
- Time-bound: Start the campaign in 2024, with broad reach by 2025.

1. Promoting Cooperative Economies:

- Specific: Encourage the formation of worker cooperatives and community-owned businesses as alternatives to traditional corporate models.
- Measurable: Increase the number of cooperatives by 50% by 2028.
- Achievable: Provide start-up funding, training, and legal support for cooperative businesses.
- Relevant: Cooperative models promote shared wealth and democratic management.
- Time-bound: Begin support programs in 2025, aiming for significant growth by 2028.

Case Study: DDHC's Economic Model

The Dallas Collaborative Co-op Campus (DDHC) provides an exemplary model of how a reimagined economic system can function. Key components of DDHC's economic strategy include:

1. Heroes Initiatives:

- Budget Allocation: $5 million for initial funding.
- Purpose: Support community leaders in developing projects that benefit the entire community.
- Programs: On-site leadership cohort, community conflict resolution training, and investment in community wellness and development initiatives.

1. Business Initiatives:

- Citrine: A lounge and venue serving as a performance hub for independent artists, offering small plates, cocktails, and rental space.
- Oh Kale Naw: A vegan café inspired by Southern cuisine, providing plant-based dishes with traditional Southern flavors.
- Creation Nation: A comprehensive business and creative development hub housing several independent agencies, including a recording studio, media production space, branding and marketing firm, and strategic consulting firm.

1. Healing Museum and Wellness Center:

- Features: Historical and cultural artifacts, holistic wellness vendors, a co-op grocery market, yoga studio, sound meditation room, and other wellness services.
- Impact: Provides holistic wellness services and promotes cultural awareness, generating revenue and supporting community development.

Investing in Sustainable Resources

1. Public Management of Water and Energy:

- Specific: Transition management of water and renewable energy sources to public or cooperative entities.
- Measurable: Ensure 60% public management by 2028.
- Achievable: Partner with local governments and community organizations to create management frameworks.
- Relevant: Ensures fair distribution and use of essential resources.
- Time-bound: Start transitions in 2025, aiming for significant progress by 2028.

1. Innovation in Sustainable Technologies:

- Specific: Invest in research and development of sustainable technologies and practices.
- Measurable: Allocate $10 billion annually to sustainable tech R&D by 2025.
- Achievable: Secure funding through public budgets, private investments, and philanthropic contributions.
- Relevant: Sustainable technologies are key to long-term environmental and economic health.
- Time-bound: Begin investments in 2024, with full funding by 2027.

The economic overhaul outlined in this strategy aims to dismantle the unjust systems of the past and build a more equitable, sustainable future. By integrating innovative models like the DDHC, promoting cryptocurrency and cooperative economies, and ensuring fair management of natural resources, we can create an economic system that serves all people and sets a global standard for justice and sustainability.

VIII | A NEW ERA OF CIVIC ENGAGEMENT AND PUBLIC ACCOUNTABILITY

The fabric of American democracy has been frayed by years of disillusionment, disengagement, and mistrust in public institutions. To rebuild a government that truly represents and serves its people, we must foster a culture of civic engagement and ensure public accountability at all levels. This section outlines the SMART goals necessary to rejuvenate civic participation and hold our leaders to higher standards of transparency and responsibility.

SMART Goals for Civic Engagement and Public Accountability

1. Enhancing Civic Education:

- Specific: Implement comprehensive civic education programs in schools and communities to foster informed and active citizenship.
- Measurable: Integrate civic education into the curricula of 90% of schools nationwide by 2026 and establish community civic education workshops in 70% of underserved areas by 2025.
- Achievable: Collaborate with educational institutions, nonprofit organizations, and local governments.
- Relevant: An informed and engaged citizenry is essential for a healthy democracy.

- Time-bound: Start program development in 2023, with major milestones achieved by 2025.

1. Promoting Voter Participation:

- Specific: Increase voter registration and turnout through targeted campaigns, especially in historically disenfranchised communities.
- Measurable: Achieve a 20% increase in voter registration and a 15% increase in voter turnout in these communities by the 2026 midterm elections.
- Achievable: Partner with grassroots organizations, civic groups, and tech companies to streamline voter registration processes and provide voter education.
- Relevant: Robust voter participation is the cornerstone of democratic governance.
- Time-bound: Launch voter participation initiatives in 2023, with significant results by 2026.

1. Ensuring Public Accountability:

- Specific: Establish independent oversight bodies to monitor and investigate government actions at all levels.
- Measurable: Create and operationalize these bodies in every state by 2027, with annual reports published on their findings and recommendations.
- Achievable: Secure bipartisan support and collaboration with civil society organizations.
- Relevant: Independent oversight is crucial for maintaining trust in public institutions.
- Time-bound: Begin establishing oversight bodies in 2023, with full implementation by 2027.

Key Initiatives for Civic Engagement and Public Accountability

1. Digital Platforms for Civic Engagement:

- Specific: Develop and promote digital platforms that facilitate civic engagement, allowing citizens to participate in decision-making processes and communicate with their representatives.
- Measurable: Ensure 75% of municipalities have adopted such platforms by 2025.
- Achievable: Partner with tech companies and civic tech startups to develop user-friendly, secure platforms.
- Relevant: Leveraging technology can make civic engagement more accessible and efficient.
- Time-bound: Start development in 2023, with broad adoption by 2025.

1. Community Organizing and Coalition Building:

- Specific: Support the formation of community-based organizations and coalitions to advocate for local issues and hold leaders accountable.
- Measurable: Establish and support 500 new community organizations and coalitions by 2025.
- Achievable: Provide funding, training, and resources to grassroots initiatives.
- Relevant: Strong local organizations empower communities to address their unique challenges and advocate for their needs.
- Time-bound: Begin support programs in 2023, with significant growth by 2025.

1. Transparency in Governance:

- Specific: Mandate transparency initiatives, including public access to government data and decision-making processes.
- Measurable: Achieve full transparency compliance in 80% of state and local governments by 2026.
- Achievable: Implement legislation and technological solutions to facilitate transparency.

- Relevant: Transparency is essential for accountability and public trust.
- Time-bound: Start implementing transparency measures in 2023, with full compliance by 2026.

Case Study: The Role of the DDHC in Promoting Civic Engagement

The Dallas Collaborative Co-op Campus (DDHC) serves as a model for how communities can foster civic engagement and public accountability through innovative and inclusive practices. Key initiatives include:

1. On-Site Leadership Cohort:

- Purpose: Develop community leaders through training in civic engagement, conflict resolution, and public accountability.
- Impact: Equip individuals with the skills and knowledge to lead and advocate for their communities.

1. Community Conflict Resolution Training:

- Objective: Provide tools and strategies for resolving conflicts within the community, fostering a collaborative and peaceful environment.
- Impact: Strengthen community bonds and improve collective problem-solving capabilities.

1. Investment in Community Wellness and Development:

- Programs: Fund projects that promote community well-being and development, ensuring that resources are used to address the most pressing local issues.
- Impact: Empower communities to take ownership of their development and hold leaders accountable.

Encouraging Corporate and Wealthy Individual Contributions

1. Specific: Develop initiatives that encourage corporations and wealthy individuals to contribute to civic engagement and public accountability efforts.
 - Measurable: Secure commitments for $500 million in contributions by 2025.
 - Achievable: Partner with philanthropic organizations, corporate social responsibility programs, and high-net-worth individuals.
 - Relevant: Leveraging private sector resources can significantly enhance public engagement initiatives.
 - Time-bound: Launch contribution campaigns in 2023, with major commitments secured by 2025.

1. Incentivizing Contributions:

- Specific: Offer tax incentives and public recognition for contributions to civic engagement and public accountability programs.
- Measurable: Increase contributions by 30% through these incentives by 2025.
- Achievable: Implement legislative measures to provide tax breaks and establish recognition programs.
- Relevant: Incentives can motivate higher levels of contribution and participation from the private sector.
- Time-bound: Begin offering incentives in 2023, with notable increases in contributions by 2025.

Revitalizing civic engagement and ensuring public accountability are essential for the future of American democracy. By enhancing civic education, promoting voter participation, and establishing independent oversight, we can build a government that truly represents and serves its people. The DDHC model demonstrates the power of community-driven initiatives in fostering engagement and accountability. Through these efforts, we aim to create a society where every citizen is informed, empowered, and actively involved in shaping their future.

SECTION X | FORGING A FUTURE OF JUSTICE AND EQUALITY

In response to Project 2025, a looming threat that seeks to entrench a dictatorship favoring the wealthy, the New Strategy for America stands as a formidable shield against tyranny and injustice. It is a blueprint rooted in justice, equity, and the fundamental rights of all citizens.

Throughout this strategic document, we have meticulously outlined a path forward—a path that confronts historical injustices, demands accountability from our leaders, and reimagines our economic and social structures.

From acknowledging our nation’s darkest chapters in Section I to demanding unbiased investigations into systemic failures in Section II, we have laid bare the truth and called for immediate action.

Section III charts a course for an equitable economic system that values human dignity over profit, advocating for a diversified currency and dismantling unjust financial systems.

Section VI underscores the importance of healing our communities, investing in mental health resources, and combating historical disinformation.

Section V addresses the urgent need for healthcare reform, advocating for holistic approaches and replicating successful models like the DDHC nationwide.

Section VI reimagines education as a tool for liberation, advocating for well-compensated educators and fostering critical thinking.

Section VII offers a visionary approach to housing, inspired by the DDHC model, aiming to eradicate homelessness and create sustainable communities.

Section VIII outlines an economic overhaul focused on fairness and sustainability, advocating for wealth redistribution and regulation of speculative markets.

Section VIII revitalizes civic engagement and accountability, promoting civic education and transparent governance to empower citizens.

United in Purpose

The New Strategy for America is more than a response; it is a call to action—a call to stand united against oppression, greed, and inequality. It is a commitment to building a future where every voice is heard, every person is valued, and justice prevails.

As we face the challenges ahead, let us remember our collective power to create change. Let us forge alliances, hold steadfast to our principles, and envision a nation where justice, equality, and the pursuit of happiness are not just ideals but realities for all.

Together, we will defy the darkness of dictatorship and illuminate a path toward a brighter, more inclusive future. This is our pledge. This is our promise. This is the New Strategy for America.

CALL TO ACTION: UNITE FOR JUSTICE, DEMAND CHANGE

As we conclude this strategic publication, crafted with dedication and insight, we recognize that these words echo the collective cries from the trenches—voices of Black women, BIPOC innovators, and advocates for justice. This strategy is not the work of one author alone but a culmination of shared experiences, wisdom, and unwavering resolve.

We invite all who believe in justice, equality, and a better future for America to buy into this strategy. It is a blueprint that demands accountability from our government leaders, challenges systemic injustices, and paves the way for transformative change.

How You Can Make a Difference:

1. Hold Leaders Accountable: Reach out to your local and national representatives. Demand that they align their policies with the principles outlined in this strategy. Use your voice and your vote to hold them accountable for creating a more just and equitable society.
2. Galvanize Community Power: Mobilize your community around these principles. Organize grassroots movements, advocacy campaigns, and collective actions that amplify the voices of marginalized communities and demand change.
3. Resist Injustice: Resist any attempts to undermine justice, equity, and human rights. Stand firm against policies that perpetuate inequality and uphold systems of oppression. Together, we can build a resilient movement that cannot be ignored.

4. Birth Solutions: Innovate, collaborate, and implement solutions that reflect the values of justice and equality. Support initiatives like the DDHC model and other community-driven projects that empower marginalized groups and foster inclusive prosperity.

Together, We Can Shape the Future

In this pivotal moment in history, let us unite in purpose and determination. Let us transform our collective vision into tangible actions that dismantle injustice and build a future where every person can thrive.

It is time to rise, to resist, and to reimagine America—a nation where justice reigns, equality prevails, and the voices of the marginalized are heard and valued.

Join us in this journey. Together, we will create a better tomorrow for generations to come.

Together, we will change the course of history.

Together, we will build a New Strategy for America.
